Fall Is the Perfect Time to Discover:

Gulf Shores and Fort Morgan

Summer may get most of the attention along the Gulf Coast, but if you ask me, fall may be one of the best times to head to Gulf Shores, Alabama. The summer crowds begin to disappear, temperatures become much more comfortable, and those beautiful white-sand beaches suddenly feel like they have a lot more room.

And the best part? It still feels like the beach.

September temperatures in Gulf Shores average around 79 degrees, with daytime highs averaging about 85. By October, the average temperature drops to around 71 degrees, with daytime highs near 78. Even the Gulf stays inviting, averaging about 81 degrees in September and 74 in October. That makes fall a great time for walking the beach, boating, fishing, golfing, biking or simply sitting outside with a cold drink and enjoying the view.

Fall also offers another advantage: more lodging options. Gulf Shores and neighboring Fort Morgan have everything from traditional hotels and beachfront resorts to condos, beach houses, and Airbnb-style vacation rentals. Once the peak summer season ends, visitors generally find greater lodging availability, and many vacation rentals offer lower fall rates. For couples looking for a quick getaway—or families wanting a larger house where everyone can spread out—that can make a fall beach trip particularly attractive.

While Gulf Shores offers restaurants, shopping, entertainment, and miles of beach, drive about 20 miles west and the atmosphere changes. Fort Morgan feels quieter and less developed, making it a great choice for anyone who wants to get away from the busier beach areas.

The centerpiece is Historic Fort Morgan, the massive masonry fort that has guarded the entrance to Mobile Bay for generations. Visitors can wander through its tunnels and barracks, see historic cannons, and learn about the fort's important role in the Battle of Mobile Bay during the Civil War. Nearby, Bon Secour National Wildlife Refuge offers hiking, wildlife viewing, and some particularly good birdwatching during the fall migration.

Plenty of destinations offer fall with sweaters, falling leaves, and cooler nights. Gulf Shores offers something different: sunshine, warm Gulf breezes, fresh seafood and beaches that aren't nearly as crowded as they were a few weeks earlier.

Sometimes the best beach vacation happens after everyone else thinks beach season is over.

For Tampa Bay residents, Gulf Shores makes for an easy Gulf Coast road trip without leaving the Southeast. The drive from Tampa to Gulf Shores is approximately 504 miles and about 7½ hours without extended stops. Leave early in the morning and you can be checking into your hotel or beach house by late afternoon—with enough time left to catch your first Alabama Gulf Coast sunset.

EMERGENCY HELP NEEDED FOR KITTIE CORRAL AND HOME BASE!

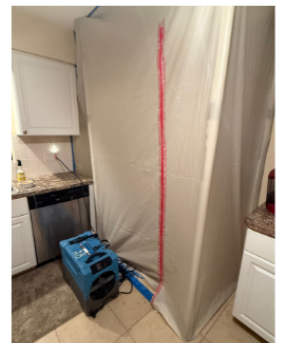

Due to Hurricane Milton damage from 2024, Kittie Corral's home base was significantly affected. Recently it was discovered that black mold was found throughout. Because there is a mold exclusion in the homeowner policy, Mold Remediation and Repairs are NOT covered. The black mold and toxins have already affected the founder and president with hospitalization and having to relocate until the remediation is completed. 7 of the medically needy animals have also been affected and will have to undergo treatment.

The current estimate has gone from $12,000 to $20,000 with only one area out of the 11 that indicated more damage than originally thought. This price is going up exponentially as the remediators tear out the walls and ceilings. The cost will be estimated around $50,000 by the time it is complete.

Kittie Corral has also learned that ALL condos, beds, blankets, toys, carpet flooring, rugs, furniture, and any other porous areas MUST be thrown away as mold spores and toxins remain in the fabrics and can not be removed.

Here are 2 photos of a small area in the kitchen where black mold was found. This area is not done with the removal of drywall. We had to snap the photos while the remediators stepped away. There are 10 more areas that will need remediated as well and are larger areas.

PLEASE help Kittie Corral and home base to raise the needed funds for the Mold Remediation and repairs to be done, as well as replacement of everything that must be thrown away, and of course, the medical care that will be required to treat the medically needy animals at home base.

Checks can be mailed to Kittie Corral, PO Box 5772, Sun City Center FL 33571

HOME PLAYOFF MATCH

CLINCHED

The Tampa Bay Rowdies announced today that tickets are now on sale for the club's opening match of the 2026 USL Championship Playoffs, set for Friday, October 30 at Al Lang Stadium in Downtown St. Petersburg. The kickoff time and opponent for the Rowdies Eastern Conference Quarterfinal on October 30 will be confirmed at a later date.

Rowdies Season Ticket Members will be contacted directly by the Rowdies sales office with information on securing their tickets for the postseason matchup. Fans interested in organizing a group outing at a discounted rate or purchasing a premium space or hospitality area for the playoffs can contact the Rowdies sales office by calling 727-222-2000 or emailing tickets@rowdiessoccer.com.

The Rowdies make their return to the USL Championship playoffs after missing out on the postseason tournament last year for only the second time since joining the league in 2017. This weekend, the Rowdies posted their league-leading 14th shutout of the regular season to clinch a top-four finish in the Eastern Conference and hosting rights in the opening round of the playoffs for the first time since 2023.

The Rowdies currently sit first in the USL Championship regular season standings with 52 points earned through 26 matches. With four matches left before the playoffs begin, the Rowdies are still aiming to secure the top seed in the conference and their second USL Championship Players' Shield in club history. The winner of the Players' Shield, awarded to the team with the best overall regular-season record, is guaranteed home-field advantage throughout the playoffs. The Rowdies can clinch the top seed in the Eastern Conference by earning seven points from their remaining regular season matches, while eight more points will lock up the Players' Shield.

The top eight teams from each conference will qualify for this year's USL Championship Playoffs, which will kick off with the Conference Quarterfinals on the final weekend of October. Teams will be placed in a fixed bracket for the single-elimination playoffs based on their position in their regular season standings. The postseason will conclude with the 2026 USL Championship Final on the penultimate weekend of November.

The Rowdies are back home at Al Lang Stadium to host Miami FC this Saturday, October 3 at 7:30 p.m. ET.

25th Anniversary of 9/11/2001

Some events in our lives are forever tied to a moment and a place. We remember exactly where we were, what we were doing, and sometimes even the smallest details of the day.

September 11, 2001, is one of those days. I was on active duty with the U.S. Army, assigned to the United States Army Reserve Command—USARC—at Fort McPherson, Georgia. I was the Army Reserve Military Police Force Manager, responsible for the manning, equipping, training, and stationing of Army Reserve MP units across the country. I also helped select which MP units would deploy. At the time, our focus was Bosnia and Kosovo.

I loved the job because no two days were ever quite the same. But September 11 started like any other workday. I got to Fort McPherson early enough to do my morning run and then headed to my cube to check email and see what the day had in store.

Not long afterward, our director called everyone together for a stand-up meeting outside his office. I can still picture him standing on a box, wearing a straw hat with a card hanging around his neck that read, "Don't shoot me. I'm just the messenger." He was about to give us news about changes coming to our directorate—decisions senior leadership had made. At the time, those changes seemed important. Within minutes, they didn't matter at all. When I returned to my desk, my inbox was filled with CNN breaking-news alerts. There must have been 50.

"Small plane hits World Trade Center."

"Possible pilot error."

"Fire at World Trade Center."

I remember looking at them and thinking, What is going on? As I was trying to make sense of it, a friend from another section came over.

VETERANS CORNER

The world of veterans' benefits is constantly evolving, with changes to VA programs, TRICARE, military retirement, legislation, and other issues that can directly affect veterans and their families. Each month, Veterans' Corner brings you the latest news, benefit updates, and resources that matter most, helping you stay informed and make the most of the benefits you've earned through your service.

From one veteran to another, thank you for your service. I'll see you next month with more news and updates that matter to you and your family.

The Department of Veterans Affairs (VA) is making the claims process easier for Veterans whose records were damaged or destroyed in the 1973 fire at the National Personnel Records Center (NPRC).

VA Deputy Secretary Paul R. Lawrence, Ph.D., and VA's Principal Deputy Under Secretary for Benefits Margarita Devlin, sat down to discuss the problem, noted how VA is fixing it, and then explained what affected Veterans should know and do moving forward. To read the entire article, scan the QR code.

Finding the right VA office for your Freedom of Information Act (FOIA) records request just got easier. VA has redesigned the page Veterans use to request records.

Whether you're requesting a DD214, medical record, or benefits letter, this page helps you get started. It replaces a maze of legal terms and links with clearly labeled boxes that match you to the form you need. To read the entire article, scan the QR code.

The Department of Veterans Affairs will save Veterans nearly $150 million in insurance premium payments starting in November, when VA implements the first-ever premium holiday for the Veterans' Group Life Insurance program (VGLI). Under this initiative, VGLI enrollees will not have to pay insurance premiums for three months, starting in November 2026 and ending in January 2027.

VGLI is VA's term life insurance program that lets Veterans pay a monthly premium to maintain life insurance coverage after they leave the military. The self-funded program's financial performance has been incredibly strong under President Trump, making the holiday possible. To read the entire article, scan the QR code.

The military's reserve components now issue departing reservists a new standard service record that summarizes their periods of active and inactive service as well as their "points" earned toward retirement: Form DD214-1, the Certificate of Uniformed Service, Reserve Component Addendum. After leaving the Army in 2001, James Quick relied on private health insurance for years. When he was diagnosed with rheumatoid arthritis, he managed his care the best he could, but it wasn't easy. Due to issues navigating private insurance, he went without the medication he needed for years. That's when his wife suggested something he hadn't considered before: trying VA healthcare. He decided to give TeleRheumatology, which is available in certain areas, a shot. To read the entire article, scan the QR code.

Phishing is a type of cyberattack where malicious actors send fraudulent emails that appear to be from legitimate and trusted sources. These scams target Veterans to steal benefits, healthcare information, and other personally identifiable information. VA urges Veterans, their families, and advocates to watch for phishing, including its signs and prevention strategies. To read the entire article, scan the QR code.

Rays Enter October With Their Sights Set on a Deep Run

The Tampa Bay Rays have already accomplished something every team wants heading into October: a few days off. Tampa Bay finished the regular season 98-64, captured the American League East, and secured the No. 1 seed in the American League. That means the Rays skip the Wild Card round and head directly to the American League Division Series, which begins October 3 at Tropicana Field.

Their opponent will certainly be familiar. Tampa Bay will face the winner of the best-of-three Wild Card Series between the New York Yankees and Boston Red Sox. Games 1 and 2 of the ALDS will be played at Tropicana Field, with Games 3 and, if necessary, 4 on the road. A deciding Game 5 would return to Tampa Bay.

Should the Rays advance, they would face the winner from the other side of the American League bracket, which includes Cleveland and the winner of the Houston-Chicago White Sox series. As the AL's top seed, Tampa Bay would also have home-field advantage throughout the American League Championship Series. That could be significant. The Rays went an impressive 55-26 at Tropicana Field this season.

They are also entering October with plenty of momentum. Tampa Bay went 42-22 from July 20 through the end of the season, the best record in the American League over that stretch.

Junior Caminero remains the big bat opponents must navigate. The 23-year-old reached 42 home runs and surpassed 100 RBIs during the final weekend, giving Tampa Bay a legitimate game-changing power threat in the middle of the lineup.

But perhaps the most intriguing postseason weapon is Chandler Simpson. His speed and ability to put the ball in play can create exactly the kind of pressure that changes close October games. Simpson was hitting .377 after the All-Star break in late August and eventually finished with more than 40 stolen bases.

On the mound, Drew Rasmussen gives Tampa Bay a proven option at the front of the postseason rotation, while deadline acquisition Freddy Peralta finished the season pitching well enough to give the Rays another experienced starter for a short series.

The Rays have been here before. The difference this year is that the American League road trip runs through Tampa Bay.
